Dear Patrons,

We invite you to use the QR code to access our interactive Studio Tour map, which will guide you to any of the 30 tour locations throughout the Las Cruces area. To use the QR code, simply open your phone's camera app, point it at the QR code, and tap the notification or link that appears to view the map. If your camera is unable to scan the code, please ensure that QR code scanning is enabled in your settings, or consider using a dedicated QR code scanner app.

Here are some tips for using the map:

- Zoom in to see all the locations clearly. Note that locations 16 and 17 are next door to each other, and location 17 may be obscured by location 16. The same applies to locations 23 and 24 in Mesilla.
- When you select a location, click on the lower right corner of your screen to view all the information about that tour location.
- If you encounter any issues, refresh your browser by following the QR code instructions.

Enjoy your tour!

IN MEMORIAM

Mel Stone

Fifteen years ago, upon arriving in Las Cruces, Mel Stone, a retired economist, professor, and world-renowned television news reporter, pursued his long-held dream of opening his own art gallery. He named it the Mesquite Art Gallery in honor of the neighborhood and street. As one of the first individuals in the area to preserve a historic adobe building, he valued the neighborhood's rich history and stories, transforming the adobe into his home, a photographic studio, and an art gallery.

In addition to the gallery, Mel was a well-established artist at the Las Cruces Farmers Market. He passed away this year at the age of 82 from pancreatic cancer. In tribute to Mel, his family and the 10 O'clock Club will continue to operate his gallery, allowing patrons to view his work and that of other artists.

Sterling Trantham

Sterling Trantham, 1957-2025, was a talented photographer from New Mexico. He earned three degrees in photography from New Mexico State University. As a photojournalist, he contributed work to various newspapers across New Mexico and worked as a freelance contractor for the Associated Press. His photographs were featured in major media outlets throughout the United States. In 1998, he began his career as an educator, teaching photography and photojournalism at NMSU and EPCC. His exceptional skills as an educator were recognized when he was awarded the prestigious National Geographic Faculty Fellowship. Sterling dedicated years to photographing the Maya in Guatemala. His work has been exhibited at the Santa Fe Museum of Art, the Las Cruces Branigan Library, Mad Hatter Gallery, and the Fort Collins Museum of Art in Colorado. For more information about his work, please contact Amy Thompson at 11.33creative@gmail.com.

2026 ArtForms Recognition

Rhonda Sprague, ArtForms Member of the Year

Rhonda has streamlined ArtForms' administrative processes, significantly reducing the time spent on paperwork. She updated our webpage, moved all applications online, and streamlined our banking records. She continues to look for new ways to improve this organization and we are very grateful for her membership.

Lucy Araiza, ArtForms Friend of the Arts

Since 2022, Lucy has actively participated in various community art initiatives with the New Mexico State University Art Museum (Community Ex-Votos) and the Las Cruces Space Festival. Her involvement has positively influenced exhibitions and enriched her students' experiences in the arts. She is an outstanding teacher who consistently contributes to community art efforts, and we want to recognize her exceptional dedication and contributions.

We would like to thank Marj Leiningner for her service as treasurer. She has been a dedicated volunteer, and her contributions have been greatly appreciated.

Tina the fabulous turkey loves cuddles more than corn. She struts proudly, feathers gleaming, eagerly waddling to anyone willing to scoop her into a cozy
hug. She is an ardent supporter of the arts.
